

Expert Guest Lecturer From University of Chicago Held a Lecture for Final-Year Students

Nov 29, 2016

Final-year students of Banking and Finance and Financial Management attended the lecture delivered by Mr. Victor Colta, the expert in the field of capital markets. Mr. Colta especially emphasized the role of mortgage-backed securities and other derivatives in unfolding financial crisis in 2008.

According to the opinions of the leading capital markets experts, mortgage-backed securities and other derivatives were the major causes of financial crisis in 2008.

Mr. Victor Colta provided students with relevant and up-to-date information on the topic, bringing new perspectives and giving the students food for thought.

The interesting lecture captured students' attention since currently, the possibility of new financial crisis occurrence is widely discussed in the media.

International Burch University | www.ibu.edu.ba